TRIO HELD IN DEATH OF UNDERCOVER MAN FREED BLAST PLOT NETS U. S. MAJOR

DYNAMITE USED IS TRACED TO COUNTY PLANTS

Blasting Of Aqueduct In
L. A. Believed Solved
With Major's Arrest

Arrested near Bishop, Inyo county and spirited from the Owens river valley in a high powered motor car which dashed through canyons and over mountain grades at a death defying speed which would out-thrill many of the movie thrillers. Major C. Percy Watson, formerly attached to the ordinance department of the United States Army during the world war was brought to the Contra Costa county jail reaching here after midnight yesterday in custody of Undersheriff W. M. Voele to face charges of illegal possession of high explosives, which he is said to have purchased at the Hercules Powder Works and California Cap Works at Stege and transported to Inyo county where the great aqueduct of the Los Angeles water system was recently dynamited and 450 feet of penstock destroyed.

While Watson was being arranged in the Owens river valley, District Attorney A. E. Timming and Clyde Laird, in Bakersfield, took A. J. Belter into custody for questioning as to the part which he played in Watson's trip to Hercules on May 12 and his return to Bishop with a quantity of explosive. Satisfied that Belter (Continued on Page 8.)

GAS BOOST TO 'ROON' FOURTH

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—Holy smoke! California's three day Fourth of July automobile celebration is going to cost motorists pretty close to $200,000 more in gasoline than it would have if the glorious Fourth had been shoved up in advance if the increase of one cent per gallon announced today by oil companies is put into effect throughout the state.

California conservatively has pretty close to a million and a half pleasure cars and nearly all of them will be out in the wide open spaces during the three-day vacation period.

Some statistical "nut" figured it out today that the little joke by the oil companies is going to cost Californians, figuring only an average of fifteen gallons to each car some $192,822.80 and that is pretty close to the $200,000 estimated.

In San Francisco alone, the same statistician figured that the holidays will cost an additional $5,000, and a lot of extra patience," he predicted.

NEED MONEY?

If you are steadily employed, you can arrange to meet pressing obligations and repay the money in convenient weekly or monthly payments. When you have settled outstanding obligations, the thing to do is to make a budget and systematically save a portion of your income. Honored!

BELOVED BY the hundreds in his congregation at the First Christian church, Rev. Frank A. Woten was last night tendered a farewell reception. He plans a nationwide evangelistic tour.

REV. WOTEN TO LEAVE PULPIT

Rev. Frank A. Woten, pastor of the First Christian church here for the past four years, and family were honored at a farewell reception given by several hundred members of the congregation of the church last night.

Rev. Woten, who is leaving the next week on an evangelistic tour of the country, was presented with a purse, with C. C. Kratzer making the presentation speech on behalf of the members of the church. Aubrey Wilson acted as chairman of the evening.

UNION OIL TO GAIN 90 ACRES

The Union Oil company at Pinole has made arrangements whereby the dredging of Pinole Shoals by the government will add 90 acres to its holdings. The mud pumped from the dredging operations will be put behind a dyke built around the acreage.

Concrete abutments are also being constructed around all the tanks of the Union company as fire protection. Lightning arresters on the tanks will forestall any possibility of the "liquid gold" being set afire by a bolt.

Gee Pa, Where In Sam Hill Were You?

If you were walking down Tenth street and found a small boy of three years tearfully proclaiming to the world that da and ma were plumb lost, what would you do?

Mrs. Sadie Mashon of Crockett did it last night. And Richmond police authorities immediately launched a search that revealed dad engrossed in something or other at a lodge meeting, forgetting for the moment that ma had left the child in his care.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Widge of Rodeo are glad to have their boy back again, and thank Richmond for his hospitality.

Trans-Atlantic Flyers Sketch Incidents That Forced Ocean Landing

"DISGUSTED," SAYS BYRD AFTER
RESCUE REVEALS PROXIMITY TO CITY OF DESTINATION

By ROBERT J. PREW

VER-SUR-MER, France, July 1. Commander Richard Byrd and his companions were village heroes tonight, as well as world heroes.

This charming little Normandy beach resort, with its handful of inhabitants, had the privilege of doing honors to the flyers as soon as they had recuperated from the strain of their trip, and there was no more delighted man in France today than Mayor Bennet, who is also the posthouse keeper.

Had 6 Hours Sleep
He housed Bert Agosta and Ureel Edchen, who had his bed and the commitment of sleeping in them for more than ten hours, while Deputy Mayor Geoffrey accompanied Commander Byrd and Norville, who were satisfied with six hours sleep.

As soon as he had rested, Commander Byrd received the newsmen. The newsmen flocked to this village in airplanes and automobiles, from Paris and Cherbourg.

Despite the fact that Commander Byrd and his brave companions accomplished an epochal flight, the intrepid aviator was in a disgusted mood when a Universal Service correspondent interviewed him this afternoon.

Byrd Discussed
"I ought to be kicked," he said quite dejectedly. "Close to Paris and couldn't make it."

To two French fishermen from the little settlement of Ver-Sur-Mer goes the credit of being first to greet the American's personnel. These men, attracted by the noise of the great monoplane's engines, saw the American swoop down to the sea, in the mists of early morning, at 2:32 a. m. They aided the aviators to get to shore.

Shortly before one o'clock this afternoon, Paris time, Commander Byrd was driven to the city hall at Ver-Sur-Mer, to meet the mayor.

"Congratulations" was the greeting of the Universal Service correspondent.

Byrd smiled sadly. "I ought to be kicked," he said.

"We think we landed about 200 yards from Ver-Sur-Mer," he continued. "But we are not sure. If the Bourget field ceased to hear our automatic signals at 1:15 a. m., this will aid us in determining our exact time of landing."

WORK BEGUN ON OAK MAN FREED PIPE LOCATION IN AUTO THEFT

Work will get under way at once on the Valley Concrete Pipe and Products company plant to be located on the three and one-half acre site near the Stege station, purchased by the corporation from the Sherwin-Williams company. Ground was broken for the plant early this week.

Railroad contractors have commenced the installation of a spur track from the Southern Pacific line that is to serve the plant.

The valley company, which is a wealthy concern with two plants in the southern part of the state, will make at its Richmond plant, plumbers connections, scientific equipment, meter boxes and other concrete products.

Suit Centers On
El Cerrito Gas
Station Stock

A tenth suit against the California Sales and Finance Company of Oakland was filed yesterday in Oakland, W. G. Laing, a carpenter, is the plaintiff, and names W. J. Weir, an officer in the company and William Gladall as defendants. He charges that the defendants through false and fraudulent representations, obtained $1000 of his money and have since refused to return it. Weir, it is charged, represented Gladall to be the owner of a gas station in El Cerrito valued at $1000. Weir and Gladall, according to the complaint, stated that the (Continued From Page 1.)

Richmond Eagles Plan Six Events

Richmond Eagles have a busy month ahead of them. Six important affairs are scheduled to take place during July and the local Aerie is making plans to make them all big successes. Felix Bapst, president, announced yesterday.

The events are as follows: July 5, short business meeting, dance committee meet; July 9, all Eagles meet at East horse park at 8 o'clock for grand ball; July 12, important meeting and card games; July 19, initiation of candidates and banquet; July 24, big C. C. C. C. basket picnic at Ramona park; July 25, something different.

Russell Sanders Called By Death

Russell Sanders brother of Hal W. Sanders, well known Richmond attorney, and formerly connected with the RECORD-HERALD, passed away yesterday afternoon in Mary's Help hospital San Francisco after an illness of some duration.

Sanders was a court reporter in Redding, a member of the Redding lodge of Elks. He is survived by his wife and three children. He was 50 years of age at the time of his death. Funeral services are pending in San Francisco.

YEAR'S TOTAL OF $2,151,316 REVEALS BOOM

Half Million Increase Indicated In Fiscal Building Report

Final figures from the office of A. J. Hurley, City Building Inspector indicate that an increase in building permits of over half a million dollars has been made this fiscal year ending June 30. The total for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926 showed a total of $1,548,563, while this year the total value of permits came to $2,151,316, an increase of $602,753.

Record Established
The new figures establish a record for Richmond in building activity, the value of permits issued for the year ending June 30, 1925 being but $1,045,770. No member of the last fiscal year ranked highest in valuation of permits taken out, the total being $73,856. This high mark was due to the starting of construction of the $502,000 Richmond Union high school during that month.

The second busiest building month was last December when the building valuations totaled $30,597.

Industrial Boom
Figures showing the amount of industrial building cannot be obtained, since the city charter does not provide that permits be taken out for buildings not being built on ground undivided into lots. But buildings put up by the Standard (Continued on Page 8.)

John McClaskey Answers Call

John M. McClaskey, 83 Civil War veteran passed away suddenly yesterday afternoon at his home, 725 Eleventh street. He was a native of Indiana and had resided in Richmond for the past two years.

He is survived by the following: His wife Martha M.; his sons, C. B. John R. and Troy M. McClaskey, stepchildren, Mrs. S. E. Brown, Mrs. Birdie Hutton and L. R. McClaskey of Richmond; Louis Ayle, 406 and Perk McClaskey of Oklahoma.

Funeral arrangements are pending with Wilson and Kratzer.

Rotary Observes Fourth Of July

Attorney Phil Carey, well known Oakland attorney, thrilled Rotarians at their weekly meeting held in Hotel Carquinez yesterday in observance of the Fourth of July.

Branding the assertion that Americans are materialistic and self-sufficient as untrue and biased Carey declared that in no country in the world are there more charitable and idealistic citizens. Carey stated that the fact that other nations has not tended to spoil Americans in their appreciation of the more spiritual things in life.

Other parts of the program were quite on a par with Carey's address, which Rotarians agreed, was the most uplifting that had been delivered before them for a long time.

Six encores were demanded of Mrs. Ethel Boorman, of Alameda, before her hearers would be satisfied.

Attorney T. H. DeLan president as chairman of the day.

20 Bungalows To Be Erected Here Soon On Thurman Tract

Work To Be Started On Cottages The Last
Part Of Month

Twenty modern Spanish type bungalows will soon be built by W. B. Thurman of Stockton on his tract on Eighth, Ninth and Tenth streets, between Lucas, Pennsylvania, and Lincoln avenues according to Leo Persico, local realtor. Persico said that Thurman would have work begun on the bungalows by the end of July, at least. Thurman owns the lot in this section and plans to build the bungalows on them and sell each home for a price in the neighborhood of $5000. Each home will have six rooms and a garage. Contracts for the work will be awarded between July 20 and 25, Persico said. Some of the houses will be of the airplane type with three bedrooms upstairs. All of the homes will be built according to plans which Thurman has now. The Richmond labor temple at Fourth and Macdonald avenues is also owned by Thurman who has considerable holdings in the bay region. He recently sold out his interests in the Cedar Products company in Stockton.

Shell Employees Ask 6 Hour Week

Placing of shift men upon a six day week instead of a seven day week pay, basis and granting of two weeks paid vacation annually to replace the present one week schedule are the chief employment changes sought by Shell Company refinery employees in Martinez in their annual working agreement with the company, according to a resume of a preliminary conference between representatives of the company and workmen, reported upon by employees' representatives at a mass meeting of refinery workers at Memorial hall.

The preliminary conference was held at Santa Barbara last week in conjunction with officials of the Federal Oil Board. The final conference will be held at Santa Barbara on July 25.

Reports of the preliminary conference and the memoranda of terms was submitted to the workmen by H. R. Decker, R. W. Willis, J. H. Wright and W. A. Jensen, who constitute the employees' conference committee.

The memoranda of terms does not ask for a general wage increase and makes only a few changes in classification of workmen.

Father Of Local Woman Dies

Funeral services are pending for George D. Dixon father of Mrs. E. T. Kelley, 668 Eighteenth street Richmond who passed away Thursday at a San Mateo hospital following an illness of two weeks. Dixon was prominently associated with the Knights of Pythias and his many visits to Richmond have given him a wide circle of local friends.

Dixon is survived by Mrs. Kelley his two daughters, Miss Ethel Dixon and Miss Lillian Dixon of San Francisco and a son Thomas C. Dixon of Los Angeles.

JURY DEBATES ONLY 2 HOURS FOR ACQUITTAL

Murder Charge Dismissed Against Czekiel By Court Order

After deliberating two hours a jury in Superior Judge H. V. Alvarado's court yesterday afternoon acquitted Joe Agrella, Homer Lusk and Joseph Cambra, all of Oakland, of charges of murder growing out of the death of Joseph Mamola, 23, Alameda county under cover prohibition agent, slain in Richmond on the night of April 12. Stanley Czekiel, also of Oakland, companion of the three acquitted men on the night of Mamola's death was freed of connection with the case when Judge Alvarado dismissed the charge against him.

Debate 2 Hours
After deliberating for nearly two hours the jury came into the court room and asked Judge Alvarado to read for a second time the definition of voluntary and involuntary manslaughter. Referring to deliberate again the jury brought in its verdict within five minutes.

Mamola died after being shot during a scuffle with Agrella, who, with the three others, according to testimony in the case, had followed Mamola from Oakland to Richmond with Agrella determined "to heat up" the dry agent.

LABOR TEMPLE IS REMODELED

The second permit of the new fiscal year beginning July 1, was issued yesterday by City Building Inspector A. J. Hurley to W. B. Thurman for the remodeling of the Richmond Labor temple at Fourth street and Macdonald avenue and its upper story has been occupied by labor organizations.

Architect Ernest Flores is in charge of the work which began a few days ago. The second story will be made into a rooming house with 20 rooms and two baths. Steam heat in every room as well as hot and cold water will be a feature of the work. New electrical fixtures will be put in and each room will be newly papered. All wood work will be in ivory. The outside of the building will be painted.

JIST AND JEST!

YES, YES, GO ON!
(By Universal Service)
REDDING, Cal., July 1.—J. A. Hubbard of Anderson is a great check finder.

Yesterday he picked up a coat on the highway that contained over $1200 in travelers checks signed by F. M. Donnelly. As no address of the owner was found, Hubbard sent the checks by registered mail to the bank which drew them.

Finding travelers checks seems to be a hobby with Hubbard as this is the second time he made such a find. A year ago he picked up a coat with $1000 worth of checks and located the owner, who sent a reward of $40.

YOUTH WINS AGAIN

This young generation keeps hanging up records with such speed that it fairly dazzles the eye to watch them.

Recently, Betty Nuthall, a 16-year-old English school girl, wielded a tennis racket with such fervor and skill that the clever veteran, Mrs. Molla Mallory, was defeated.

Girls and boys of tender years are busy in every corner of the civilized world driving to cover the intolerant who have been whining untruths about "the degenerate new generation."

Youth is being served, just as it always has been served. It is winning just as it always has won.

The observation made years ago by the eminent Benjamin Disraeli fits the world of the present just as aptly as it fitted the world of this day:

"Almost everything that is great has been done by youth."

THIS IS SUMMER

People who were complaining a few days ago that spring was too cold are complaining now that summer is too hot.

The weather man never has been able to please folks who refuse to be pleased. He continues to ladle out whatever weather happens to come along, be it hot or be it cold, wet or dry, and it's up to the rest of us to take it or move along to the place where there is no weather.

Feeling comfortable is something that is not entirely beyond the powers of reasonable persons. Summer and winter observance of the rules of diet and attention to the needs of the body will make both heat and cold seem more endurable.

Persons who are physically in good condition do not suffer as do those who are out of tune.

That fact is realized with great force from year to year. Under its guidance, public health has improved tremendously.

A New York man was sentenced to jail for having two wives. Is our guess that he was already receiving sufficient punishment.

Who remembers the old-fashioned girl who got vaccinated on the calf of her leg so that it wouldn't show?

What it's all about

By PAUL ALLEN

MEN WHO ARE INVESTING millions for the pleasure of finding out the facts about aviation are beneficiaries of the whole world. No money was ever better spent than that which has been put into the preparation of the Commander Byrd in the trip to the Antarctic.

The investing of one wise man's money can often help all the rest of humanity.

ONE GOOD RESULT of the current season's European hops has been the advance in the science of weather predicting. Up to the present most of the forecasts have been based on observations taken in various parts of our own continent. The airman's demands for information make it necessary to gather reports from ships in various parts of the ocean, too. After this we're going to be better advised concerning storms coming from the sea, as well as those that are home-brewed.

LAWYERS AND JUDGES can accomplish a great deal to clear up the present confusion. A special committee appointed by the Court of Appeals has already made a number of valuable suggestions. If these are put into effect many difficulties will be wiped out. That will save up justice. That will make laws seem more impressive to the average citizen. One reason for the present disrespect of law is that it is so hard to make the law work rapidly and efficiently.

A HAPPY SUGGESTION is the one advising penalties for lawyers who deliberately block the trial of cases to pile up fees. Such business is darker than shady. Those who are guilty of it for selfish purposes are properly called "shysters." Respectable members of the bar owe a duty to themselves to eliminate these men from practice.

POLICE HUNT for a headless man. There is no such thing as a headless man. There is a man without a head. He is a man who has lost his head. He is a man who has lost his head. He is a man who has lost his head.

It is a man who has lost his head. He is a man who has lost his head. He is a man who has lost his head. He is a man who has lost his head. He is a man who has lost his head.

COLLEGES HAVE BEEN BUSY this week conferring degrees on famous men. In honoring the men the colleges honor themselves all the more. What we are waiting to see is a college degree of such power that if conferred upon an ordinary humdrum citizen it would make him a brilliant success.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN and his wife keep crowding into the newspapers with their marital anxieties. Wonder if it hasn't occurred to them that they ought to try a retake of their romance.

How To Earn MONEY at HOME.

By Sara Spence

There came a letter today from a woman who confesses that she is poor and proud. She wants to work, but on something that is high class, so that it does not seem like work. Of course, painting and writing and being a doctor or a lawyer come under that heading. But it isn't so easy to mention off hand any other kind of work that isn't work. Personally, I have grown to dislike women who do not earn money. They are not interesting to me. They are dull, and long compared to the bright and up-and-coming woman who makes her own way. Perhaps this may atone for whatever shock one's pride may suffer in working—the knowledge that people enjoy your company more.

You suggested inventing a machine or appliance for drying clothes in the kitchen. I have invented one. Now live up to your part and tell what to do with it.

Answer—With pleasure, more pleasure than I can tell you. Take your model to a high class, reputable patent lawyer. He will make drawings of it and apply for a patent. Take your model then to a factory or to a machinist and have the dryer made—full working size. Or if you lack the money to do this, take it to a home-furnishing store. The biggest one in town—and ask them to buy the patent of you. You will make more working the latter way.

In Which Lady Grey Tells Thin Girls How To Fatten

By LADY BEATRICE GREY

From the state of Washington a letter comes to me from Mrs. F. W. B., asking for advice on how to build up her physique. "I am 5 feet 5 inches tall and weigh only 110 pounds," she says. "I know I am under weight and I am really in earnest about building myself up. I have been taking some exercises for leg development which I read about in your column and have noticed an improvement. Won't you please help me again?"

There is nothing I like better than helping one who is so seriously in earnest. Perhaps there are some other girls who will follow your example.

For your height you should weigh at least 124 pounds. That is a lot of weight to put on in a short time, so don't be discouraged if it takes you all summer.

I'm going to outline a little schedule for you, and I promise that, if you follow it carefully, you will find a great improvement.

First of all you should get plenty of sleep. I would advise at least ten hours for the first two months. Your slenderness is, quite possibly, caused by nervous tension. Learn to relax and take life easy for a while. Cut down on your work.

My brother, 15 years old, has yellow luncheon. The doctor says it came from going bathing too early. Please advise. S. A. D.

Undue exposure may have been the exciting cause but this alone would never produce such a condition. There must have been a previous accumulation of toxins in the system as a result of improper diet and other wrong habits of living. The usual treatment by natural methods would be an orange diet for up to seven days with plenty of water and daily vegetables and buttermilk, together with an occasional sweat bath, deep breathing and considerable rest.

The usual treatment by natural methods would be an orange and grape fruit diet for several days to reduce inflammation, followed by a largely raw food diet of fruits, vegetables, nuts, whole grain cereals and buttermilk.

VIGOROUS HEALTH

Thorough mastication is practiced. Lemon juice is applied to the gums several times daily.

Health and ease are one thing. Ease is not one kind of action conflicting with healthy action and striving with this for mastery. There is only one kind of action in the body, and this is always in their perfect as existing conditions permit. There is not the operation in the body of one set of laws in health and of another set of laws in disease. Rather, no part of the vital economy can ever escape from under the domain of vital law.

No organ in man's body can take on wrong action. It must always obey the laws of its constitution, and so long as it has power to act at all, must act correctly. Nature violates no laws. The action of the organs of man's body are always as true to the pole star of health as the needle is to the pole. The action of the body or any part of it, in disease is the same as its action in health. Its action may be impaired, but it is not changed. It is not susceptible of change.

The Smartest Thing My Dog Ever Did

I had a collie named Dan, which was a great friend of Tabby the cat. Tabby had some kittens and we gave them away. And the cat was so homesome she would not eat. That worried Dan. One day he was away for a long while. When he returned he walked proudly in with a kitten in his mouth, which he put down in front of the delighted cat.

BUY NON-SHINKABLES!

When buying summer frocks of an expensive type one should be certain to get materials which do not shrink with cleaning or laundering. Georges and some of the shrewder materials are inclined to shrink with cleaning, whereas crepe de chine and silk jerseys shrink very little.

For the first time in many years, cotton materials are again in vogue. Frocks made of linen, gingham, printed linens and crepes are more expensive than some of the silk models.

The woman who wants to get away from the $15 silk frock, which almost every one wears, can find beautiful cotton materials in the shops which can be made into individual frocks for around $15.

WHEN I FORGOT

Aunt asked me to do an errand at the drugist's. Sister said: "While you're in the drug store get me some Kodak films." A display of cameras in the window of our best jewelry store reminded me later of sister's request and I hurried in to procure the films before it slipped my mind.

While waiting for my purchase I stood looking down and pondering what I was supposed to get for my aunt. It came to me as the haughty clerk inquired, "Anything else, madam?" Forgetting I was in a jeweler's instead of a drug store, I answered, "Oh yes, now I'll have ten cents' worth of senal!"

Irish Hearts

By MOLLIE MALONE

"IRISH HEARTS," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. dramatization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS
Sheila Kildare and her father emigrate to America to follow Emmett Martough to whom she is engaged. Martough joins a bootlegging band and Sheila is befriended by the family of Rory O'Shea, a professional boxer. Martough, influenced by a cabaret girl, betrays his band of bootleggers and reveals the hiding place of $150,000 in contraband. At a dance he deserts Sheila and Rory, although a lightweight, thrashes Martough in a fight and safeguards Sheila.

"I know he's not business," supplemented Rory decisively, "and that business will keep him until the ball is over. But you and mother and father go on home. I'm escorting Sheila through the rest of the night." It was not in the manner of a suggestion; it was a command, and the old folks, O'Sheas with proud smiles and Old Tom in wonderment went their way. But not before dear old Kathleen whispered with a chuckle into the ear of Sheila:

"Do be careful of him. He's a broth of a boy, just like his father. Do ye hear the orders from him now? The young devil!"
Sheila blushed and kissed the old lady good night, and Rory swung her about on his arm and promised to take her to the city and where the back road was to separate the transport train into individual carriers. As they entered Manhattan by diverging ways and strided the vans in different garages already arranged. It was four o'clock when the last truck, with Schermer himself in the pilot car, left Crozier's landing station. The storage barn had been cleaned out, and the cases of contraband remained.

"Don't leave me," the wounded man pleaded with Schermer. "We got to get fixed up. Give us a chance."

"Oh, Crocker'll take care of you, all right. He'll hear about it and be down here by morning. You can stand it then or creak, I don't care which."

"I'll get you for this if it's the last thing I ever do," one of the men cried, cursing Schermer. Schermer walked over to him and brought the butt of his gun down on his head. The man fell back unconscious.

"When you call me those names, smile," Schermer sneered as he turned on his heel and left the barn.

Crocker left the West End Club ball at six in the morning. He drove to his apartment and prepared to go to bed. The affair had been one of the most successful the club ever had undertaken and Crocker was satisfied. The telephone rang.

"Hello! Yes, this is Crocker! What? Who are you?"

"Never mind who I am. But you're cleaned and cleaned right," said the voice at the other end of the wire. "You'd better hop into a car and get down to that place of yours on Long Island. A couple of your men need a doctor." The receiver clicked.

Crocker immediately called Devlin.

"Bring that car of yours round right away. There's the devil to pay on Long Island. Some gang has raided the place. Hurry." He put in another call and ordered Dixon to meet him at once. Half an hour later they were speeding toward Long Island. On the way they stopped for Dr. Norton.

Schermer turned the key in the door of the suite in the Hotel Hotel. The tall, thin leader of the band was alone and waiting.

"We got every case. Crocker's as clean as a whistle. Not much trouble, some shooting. We bumped off two of them, had to do it. They began shooting the minute we entered. And they fought like devils."

"Is it all stored safe?"

"Absolutely. We should begin getting reports by phone any minute now from the garages."

"I knew I'd pay Crocker back," gloated the tall, thin man. "Never knew why I hated him so much, did you?"

"No, Stevens, I didn't."

"Well, I had a kid brother, good boy, went across and came back unharmed and ready to start life over again. I wasn't in the life then. The kid got a job driving a truck; he had been doing that in France. Some cheap bootlegger hired the truck and the kid didn't know what he was carrying. Crocker's gang hijacked the van and they killed the kid, shot him down cold when there wasn't any need for it. They had surprised him, he didn't have a guard, didn't even carry a gun, and as they drove away with the load they shot him down. I'll make Crocker pay more one of these days."

The plots of the eight trucks reported by telephone that the cases had been cached and Schermer and Stevens turned into bed. Schermer to get up and meet Martough and Clarice at the appointed hour.

EACHING CORONA AND FINDING A NUMBER OF FINE SPANISH VESSELS IN THE PORT. THEY OPENED A BOMBARDMENT. NEXT DAY NORREYS LANDED WITH A STRONG FORCE OF SOLDIERS. SANGUINARY BATTLES FOLLOWED. THE SPANIARDS FINALLY RETREATED, BUT FIVE HUNDRED, WHO MISUNDERSTOOD THE ORDER, WERE PUT TO THE SWORD BY NORREYS' RELENTLESS SOLDIERS. THE TOWN WAS RANSACKED AND DESTROYED. THIS DONE, THE NORREYS SAILED TO TAKE LISBON, THE PORTUGUESE CAPITAL. ARRIVING AT A TOWN SOME FIFTY MILES FROM LISBON, THEY ANCHORED. NORREYS FAVORED A FORCED MARCH BY THE ARMY OVERLAND TO TAKE LISBON BY SURPRISE.

SIR FRANCIS DRAKE

By Dr. Elliot Shoring, The Noted Historian

DRAKE STRONGLY OPPOSED THIS PLAN, INSISTING THAT SUCH A MARCH AND ATTACK WITHOUT FIELD PIECES, BAGGAGE TRAINS AND EQUIPMENT, AND LACKING THE SUPPORT OF THE FLEET, WOULD BE DISASTROUS. HE FINALLY YIELDED TO NORREYS' VIEW. SO NORREYS AND DON ANTONIO BEGAN THE DARING MARCH WHILE DRAKE SAILED TO THE TAGUS RIVER TO CO-OPERATE WITH NORREYS FROM THERE. REACHING THE TOWN OF CASCAES, DRAKE TOOK IT WITHOUT A BLOW. IF THE ARMY HAD BEEN WITH IT, AN IMMEDIATE ATTACK UPON LISBON BY SEA AND LAND COULD HAVE BEEN MADE WITH EVERY CHANCE OF SUCCESS. AS THE TOWN WAS UNPREPARED, BUT SINCE NORREYS WAS NOT THERE, DRAKE FINALLY DECIDED TO TRY TO ATTACK ALONE. WHEN ALL WAS READY, WORD CAME THAT NORREYS WAS IN FULL RETREAT UPON CASCAES. THUS INGLOUROSLY FAILED THE BLOW AT LISBON.

ADMIRAL DEWEY LODGE INSTALLS SENIOR OFFICERS

H. C. McCormick was elected senior vice-commander and C. L. Benton was elected junior vice-commander when the Admiral Dewey lodge of the Spanish American War Veterans met last night in Memorial hall. These officers were installed in their positions by J. Kovie, and O. A. Paulsen was master of ceremonies.

Delegates who went to Oakland last Wednesday evening gave a favorable report on the formation of a vicinity council which will include all the lodges of the Spanish American War Veterans in the Eastbay. Commander H. C. Wilson presided at the meeting last night.

Hurleys Entertain Mrs. N. V. Mullen Of Baltimore, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hurley are now entertaining Mrs. Hurley's cousin, Mrs. N. V. Mullen of Baltimore, at their home at 4019 Roosevelt avenue. Mrs. Mullen has arrived at the western extremity of her tour of the United States and expects to visit Los Angeles before returning to the east. On her way to California she visited the national parks and large cities en route.

Last Thursday Mrs. Mullen accompanied the Hurleys on a trip to Santa Cruz, during which the party made a stop at Inspiration point in the mountains.

Mrs. Mullen's husband is the master mechanic of the Maryland and Pennsylvania railroad and could not accompany her on the trip because of business duties.

Montague-Shasta Valley Chamber of Commerce reorganized here recently.

'Broke' But Luxuriant

PAINTINGS, draperies and other furnishings in the luxuriant home of Mrs. Lydia have been sold to meet the demands of creditors, but she still has expensive quarters at a hotel, according to a former butler. One of the paintings auctioned off is shown above, while Mrs. Lydia is in inset, shown as she appeared while engaged to the Rev. Percy Stickney Grant.

Men Look Like Brokers In New Ticker-Tape Neckties

By Edward M. Rittenberg

NEW YORK, July 1, 1927.—Some people can read time tables and understand what it is all about. Others boast that they can untangle the messages conveyed on ticker tape as it comes crawling out of a glass globe and squirms around in a basket like a serpent.

But the new ticker tape craze is something else again. Absent-minded gentlemen in Wall Street occasionally seize a neighbor's necktie and endeavor to unravel the mystic of a flaming boom or a slump in the market.

Fashion, has approved a style of spring and summer four-in-hand in light weight silk that features solid grounds in a variety of colors, with small white figures sprinkled over the surface. These figures represent the letters, numbers, dots and dashes of the ticker tape and provide one of the most unique motifs of the current season.

The majority of designs are confined to letters and figures, but occasional bizarre numbers employ everything the tape affords.

Men who study the score board in brokers' offices found the new cravats rather interesting and a recent display with appropriate background launched by a smart Fifth Avenue store soon drew a mixed sidewalk crowd. The male pedestrians scrutinized the display with the same intent curiosity that marks their burning regard of the stock market reports as displayed on black boards in various gathering places of speculators great and small.

People are beginning to speak of men according to their cravats. In other words, they know a broker because he wears a broker's tie.

Thelma Cheevers Celebrates Ninth Birthday At Party

Thelma Cheevers celebrated her ninth birthday entertaining a number of girl friends at the home of Mrs. P. D. Nelson, 2569 Downer street yesterday afternoon. The afternoon was pleasantly spent playing games and music. The table was prettily decorated in yellow. Dainty refreshments were served.

The guests included, Jean Hanson, Thelma Messenger, Ruth Minter, May Sporn Helen Dan Marter, Ruth Dan Marter, Georgia Dan Marter, Rosie Cole, Genevieve Messenger, Dorothy Westwood, and Thelma Cheevers. The ladies who attended were Mrs. Hansen Mrs. Messenger, and Mrs. Hooper from Oakland, who has come to live with Mrs. Nelson.

MERKTS RETURN FROM TOUR IN LOS ANGELES

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mark returned yesterday from a three weeks' honeymoon spent in Los Angeles, and established themselves in their new abode at the corner of Twenty-third street and Phoenix avenue. They were married in the Church of the Flowers in Glendale. The bride was formerly Miss Freda Palmer of Los Angeles.

When the young couple returned home they found that their father had decreed the entire front of the house with "Just Married" and other appropriate signs.

The bride is the daughter of Albert Dobner, Los Angeles contractor, and a niece of William Heber, 2333 Phoenix avenue. Mark is credit man of the Pacific Knitting Mills and has been residing in Richmond.

GERALDINE ROCK IS HONORED AT SHOWER HERE

Miss Geraldine Rock who is to become the bride of Edward E. Rock, Saturday, August 6, was honored at a shower given Miss Lila Yond, Mrs. Florence Clark and Miss Hazel Olson at the Yond home, 903 Laurel avenue. The evening was spent enjoying playing bridge. There were five tables and the prizes went to Miss Vivian Peterson, who took first; Miss Geraldine Rock, who had second and Miss Helen Maloney who was awarded consolation.

The gifts were then presented to Miss Rock. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses. Those who enjoyed the evening included Misses Geraldine Rock, the honoree; Helen and Mary Gately, Belle Woodford, Ruby Williams, Norine Lee, Maud Muller, Julia Hutchinson, Margaret Carey, Inez Branson, Helen Clark, Evelyn Carson, Helen Maloney, Vivian Peterson, the Mesdames Yeager, Wilhelmina Schulze, Virginia Brand and Janet Blome, and the three hostesses, Miss Florence Clark, Miss Hazel Olson, and Miss Lila Yond.

Bus To Be Run During Paving Of San Pablo

Under the terms of an agreement entered into yesterday, the California Construction company, holders of the contract for paving San Pablo avenue, will pay $12.50 per month toward operation of a Key bus line which will operate from Macdonald avenue to Alvarado park, while the Key Transit System company removes its route from San Pablo to permit of the paving work scheduled to be done. The action taken is not in any way a settlement of the transit problem in Richmond, as regards the abandonment of these cross town lines. This question will come before the Railroad Commission in August, and the agreement which was arranged by City Attorney T. M. Carlson is only a temporary measure.

Planned been has made its appearance in the realm of footwear and is shown in effects similar to those indulged for sports coats, etc. The preference is for white grounds, enlivened by colorful motifs.

Indian Tribe Has Never Seen "Filthy Lucre"

MEXICO CITY, July 1, 1927.—They are ignorant of money. They have never seen an automobile.

They are happy. Such is the description of the Tepic Indians of the Durango and Chihuahua mountains given by Professor Manuel Morfin, educational missionary assisting the government in its work of school-population of Mexico.

The Tepic Indians, according to Morfin, live in an Alpine atmosphere in an area ten thousand feet above sea level. There are wild animals a plenty, particularly wolves and bears; and the region also is the home of the monster eagle known to the Mexicans as the "carpenter bird," the largest bird known to man.

The Indians do not know firearms, but are marvelous hunters with the bow and arrow. The majority live in small caves and which they heat by great pine fires during the cold season.

Internal heat is generated by toasting or in the language of the Tennessee mountains, corn. The liquor is fermented from maize, practically the only crop that they plant and cultivate. The Tepic Indians also have had their wars, their most historic clash being with the Apaches, who threatened them with extinction. The Apaches invaded the mountain fastness and for a time were victorious, but finally were put to flight by the bows and arrows of the Tepic Indians at the battle of Iaborizame.

It is at Iaborizame, "Big Stone," that the Department of Education is establishing a distribution center for food and clothing and eventually education for the Tepic Indians.

are sure indications that the arch across the ball of the foot has broken down. Thousands of people suffer intense pain, cramps and burning callouses in this part of the foot without knowing the real cause.

Dr. Scholl's Arch Supporters will quickly and permanently relieve this condition by gently but firmly supporting the depressed bones, and removing the strain and pressure on the weakened parts.

Perhaps you have some other form of foot trouble such as corns, bunions, weak ankles, cramped toes, painful heels, etc. If so, come in and let us give you a Free Demonstration. You will find that it is no longer necessary to suffer foot aches and pains.

Hunters Required To Possess New Deer Tag License

Every deer hunter must have a deer tag license in his possession this year in addition to the regular hunting license, according to H. R. Dunbar, assistant executive officer of the California Fish and Game Commission.

The fee for this license is $1.00. There are two tags, each tag having a duplicate. As soon as a deer is killed one original tag must be filled out and immediately attached to the horns of the animal and the duplicate filled out and mailed in to the Fish and Game Commission. The duplicate is self-addressed and only needs to be filled out and stamped. The tags should be filled out in ink or indelible.

When a person makes application for a deer tag he must produce his regular hunting license before the tag license can be issued and the number of the deer tag must be written on the face of the hunting license. No provision was made on the hunting license for this purpose because when the hunting licenses were placed in the hands of the Printer it was not sure that the Governor would sign the deer tag bill. The reason that the deer tag number must be written on the hunting license is that a person will not be able to apply a second time for deer tags.

Under this provision the person killing a deer in an open district may take the deer killed into a closed district provided he has the tag that is attached to the horns of the animal signed by a regular deputy of the Fish and Game Commission or any other person authorized to administer an oath. Heretofore persons killing a deer in an open district could not take them into a closed district. This law will permit them to do so.

Jazz In Japan

(By Universal Service)
TOKIO, July 1.—In the battle of the saxophone and the samisen, the saxophone is winning.

Which is a more or less figurative way of declaring that western music is gaining popularity and prestige in Japan while, among the younger generation at least, the native tunes and dirges are declining. It would be dangerous to predict that occidental harmonies ever will drive out the music of the Orient, but it is eminently correct to assert that western music has gained a foothold in Japan that year by year is becoming more secure.

Auditory evidence of the truth of this statement is afforded any foreigner who strolls through the streets of Tokio. The piano, the violin, wind instruments, phonographs are heard on every side and the chances are that the bicycle boy who whizzes past will be whistling a recent product of Tin Pan Alley.

Verbal testimony is now supplied by Prof. Saburo Okkatsu, of the Tokio Academy of Music.

"I think Western music has become a part of Japanese life," Prof. Okkatsu declared. "It is no longer a mere fashion, courted as part of the craze for things western only to be forgotten soon afterwards. As a result of the visits made by many famous foreign musicians to this country and the widespread distribution of the gramophone among the people, the Japanese are taking a keen and enthusiastic interest in foreign music. During the past ten years this interest has been increasing constantly."

"It goes without saying that the Japanese students of western music have not yet attained Western standards of accomplishment. The progress they have made dur-

Death Summons Mrs. Mary Buese

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Buese, 68 year old Richmond matron who passed away at the home of her daughter Mrs. J. E. Durand, at Glens yesterday morning, are pending in the hands of Wilson and Kratzer. Death was attributed to an attack of heart failure.

Mrs. Buese was a native of Wisconsin and is survived by her husband, Louis Buese; two daughters, Mrs. Durand, of Glens, and Mrs. R. C. Veran, of LaMoine, California, and two sons, J. N. Buese, of LaMoine and L. A. Buese of Los Angeles.

Pensions Provided For Poor Artists

BERLIN, July 1.—An "honor fund," out of which six artists, poets or composers of acknowledged importance who face poverty in their old age, are to get an annual honor pension, has been created by the Prussian government.

The fund amounts so far, however, to only $3000, which means $500 a year for each of the impoverished artists.

$51,000 Damage Suit Is Filed Against Pilot

MARTINEZ, July 1. Capt. P. O. Garrett, 449 West Richmond avenue, pilot of a Richmond-San Rafael ferry boat, was today named the defendant in two damage suits filed here today for $51,000, resulting from an automobile crash June 2, at the Blake street "bullet hole" in El Cerrito.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Taylor of San Francisco, the plaintiffs in the two suits, were passengers in the Garrett automobile. Taylor asks $30,000 for injuries, which he claims include a fracture skull. Mrs. Taylor asks $10,000 for injuries, $5,000 for incapacitation and $1000 for doctor's fees.

TENNIS STARS PREPARE FOR CITY TOURNAMENT

FISH FAVORED TO AGAIN WIN CHAMPIONSHIP

With the tournament committee of the Richmond Tennis club completing plans for the annual city tennis tournament, net players of the city are getting into shape rapidly for the play, which is expected to get under way soon.

Events on this year's program include both men's and women's singles events, with the possibility that there will also be play in men's doubles. The players will compete for handsome trophies put up by Supervisor Zeb Knott for the championship of the men's and women's singles.

Stanford Star Favored

L. S. Fish, former Stanford University net star, is picked as a likely winner of the men's singles following his victory over A. K. Herman in the Standard Oil championships last week. Fish is playing at the top of his game now and is expected to repeat his victory over his old-time rival, Herman.

Other local top-notch net players who might trouble both Fish and Herman are Nebo Chassour and Bill Regalia, who have exhibited some sterling tennis during the summer. Other netmen expected to make good showings in the event are Harold Johnson, Clare Bryant, Carl Peterson, Wally Kruger, A. S. Remell and Trutt.

Women's Play Hot

Play in the women's singles is expected to be exceedingly hot, with Mrs. L. S. Fish and Mrs. H. Hunn as likely finalists in the event. At the present time the former is given an edge over Mrs. Hunn, winner of last year's tournament, because of the fact that the latter has played comparatively little tennis this season. On the other hand, Mrs. Fish has been playing in great form this year.

Other feminine net stars expected to figure prominently in the championship play include Mrs. Bob Radke, Mrs. A. K. Herman, Miss Helen Gately, Miss Mary Gately, Miss Vivian Peterson and Miss Beth Woodford.

Men's Doubles Likely

The men's doubles find L. S. Fish and A. K. Herman installed as heavy favorites to win top honors. The two form a well-balanced doubles team that has been more than a little successful in dual matches this year with other tennis clubs.

Other combinations to take part in the play include Bryant-Regalia, Johnson-Moore, Peterson-Trutt, Remell-Kruger and Radke-Bill.

The tournament committee is formed of Bill Regalia, chairman; Lloyd Moore, A. S. Remell, Helen Gately and Mrs. Bob Radke.

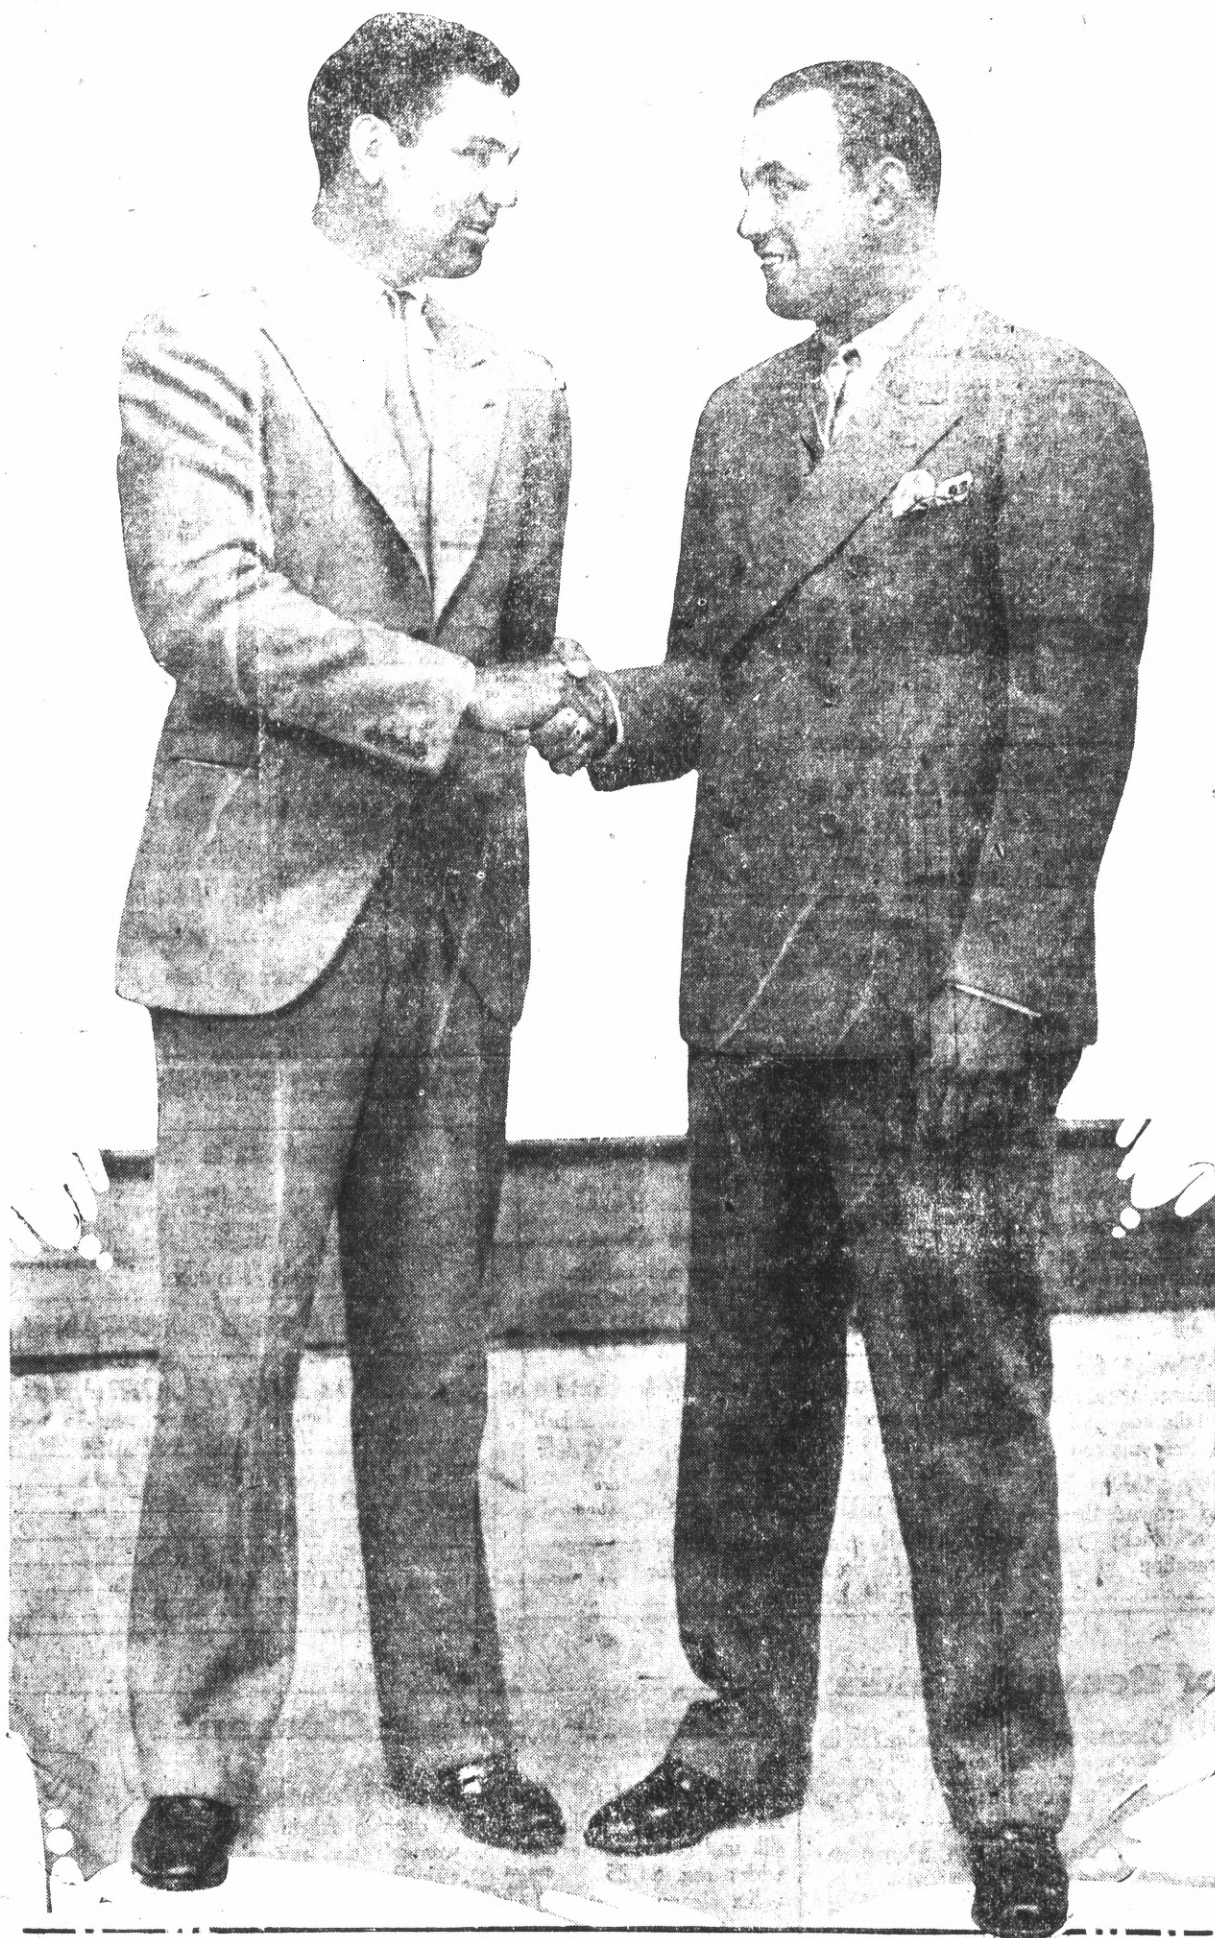

Match With Santa Cruz

Word was received yesterday that the Santa Cruz Tennis club netmen will be here Sunday, July 10, for a return match with the local players. Richmond players scored a smashing victory over the Santa Cruz netmen in the first matches, played last month at Santa Cruz, and are expected to repeat on their own courts.

The local club will also meet the Stockton Tennis club players in a match late this month.

The white organdie frock posed over a colored slip is a summer favorite. An added decorative touch is given through a moire ribbon girdle.

"Wish You Luck, Old Man"

SO SURPRISED was Jack Sharkey, reported to be Fish's most eloquent pugilist, at the affable mannerisms of Joe Dempsey, when the pair met for the first time atop Madison Square Garden roof Thursday, that he became inordinately nonplussed and tongue-tied. Dempsey complimented the Bostonian on his brilliant showing against Maloney, and asked the Lith condition of his wife, who is in a hospital convalescing from a minor operation. Sharkey eyed the Manassa Mauler up, and then proceeded to gaze at his shoes, until some one, sensing his predicament, came to the rescue. Surely you don't have to be told Dempsey's on the left and that they will clash at the Yankee Stadium on July 21. They won't shake hands again until that night.

SANNIES TRIM BEN MALIKS IN LOOSE CONTEST

The Ben Malik lost a golden opportunity to assume the lead in the Richmond City League yesterday when they were trounced by Phil Jones' Sannies by a 10 to 2 score. The Ben Malik had started the contest only a half game behind the Sannies, and a victory over the latter would have put Bud Lewis' aggregation in the lead.

Determined to clinch their hold on first place, the Sannies used Roland Roberts, their pitching ace, on the mound against the El Cerritos. Roberts breezed through to an easy victory, allowing six scattered hits and bearing down only in the pinches. Kamb, the opposing hurler, had an off night, allowing 11 safeties. He was further aided in his downfall by the poor work of his supporting cast in the field.

Ridge Greathouse was the hitting star for the Sannies, while Wetzler and McCoy hit well for the losers.

Hudkins To Box Sam Baker Again

NEW YORK, July 1.—Ace Hudkins, the Nebraska Wildcat, and Sammy Baker of New York have been matched for a return 12-round bout at Ebbet field, August 3, promoter Humbert Fugazy announced today. Bake scored a technical knockout over Hudkins at the Polo Grounds June 15.

Leo Lomski of Aberdeen, Wash., will be matched with Paul Berlenbach, Jimmy Slattery on George Courtney of Oklahoma in a ten round semi-final, according to Fugazy.

Joe Dundee of Baltimore, welterweight champion, has signed with Fugazy to meet the winner of the Hudkins-Baker bout.

Ed Sullivan's SPORT WHIRL

WILLIAM HARRISON DEMPSEY of the Big Bertha Dempseys is going to have trouble lining up a staff of sparring partners to prep him for that Jack Sharkey engagement on July 21, if current indications are true.

To date, Gus Wilson has signed Carl Carter, Jack Gagnon, Arthur De Kuh and Leo Lomski, and of that quartette the only one calculated to help Dempsey at all is Lomski, a fast-moving 170-pounder.

Friends of Dempsey would much prefer to see Tommy Loughran, Yale Okun, Johnny Grosso, Lomski and Jack De Mave in the Dempsey camp with a couple of big fellows to maul him around in the clinches. If Dempsey could secure this crowd to work with him, he would be properly pointed for that July 21 engagement.

Dempsey would probably be glad to get them, but his reputation of murdering sparring partners and unfitting them for future ring work causes the good men to steer clear of him. Lou Brix won't let Grosso work with him, I know. Grosso is a youngster, and he has a future ahead of him. Brix doesn't intend to have Grosso's ambition pounded out of him by Dempsey. Loughran might be persuaded to help Dempsey condition himself, for Tommy feels confident that Dempsey can't reach him with hot punches. Jimmy Johnston would probably be willing to let Yale Okun work with the ex-champion.

Dempsey needs the best sparring partners that money can fetch for his Sharkey fight.

This is the last stand of the big fellow, and he has to be right to make the grade. They say that he needs to be only 50 per cent of the old Dempsey to win, and they said the same thing when he fought Tunney. Sharkey can be beaten in stomach.

If Sharkey is to be beaten by Jack Dempsey, he will be beaten by a wild punch or a consistent body attack. If Dempsey depends on a wild clout to end the affray, the odds are 8 to 1 against him.

If he enters the ring with a plan of battle mapped out and calling for steady drives to Sharkey's stomach, Dempsey will have a good chance of reaching the Tunney objective.

Sharkey can't take it in the middle.

In all of his fights, the ex-gob has tried to pull his opponents' fire away from the mid-section by holding his guard low and sticking his head out to draw the punches.

Remember Sharkey's fight against Jim Maloney?

Sharkey walked into the center of the ring with no attempt to guard his face and head. He carried his hands down near his waist.

Maloney tell for the ruse.

He tried to pin a right hand on Sharkey's phiz, and Sharkey made him look foolish by bobbing and weaving under the storm of punches.

Maloney threw at HIS HEAD.

The only way to beat Sharkey is to pound his stomach. Dempsey can beat him by plunking that left hook to the heart and stomach.

When he awakens him in the body, then Dempsey can shift his attack to Sharkey's head, but not until then.

Maloney was drilled to punch to Sharkey's middle, but in the heat of the fight, Maloney forgot all about his instructions. All he could see was Sharkey's sneering face in front of him, and until the moment that he took his last ride to the canvas, Maloney was still hitting vainly at Jack's head.

Testimony showed that Agrella advanced to Mamola's car. The officer drew his gun and a shot was fired. Agrella, shouting out that he had been shot in the leg, ran across the street and Mamola followed. Another scuffle ensued and four more shots were fired. Agrella was shot through the right leg and Mamola fell to the ground also wounded twice. The four Oaklanders fled to their car and sped to Oakland, where they were arrested when Agrella was taken to the Alameda county hospital for treatment.

The defense did not put in any testimony and based its case on the claim that Mamola was shot with his own gun.

Arraign Wilson On Poison Count

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace John Roth in Richmond yesterday, William Wilson, 26, of Chicago, charged with violation of the state poison act, asked for time to plead and was turned over to the sheriff's office, unable to raise $500 bail.

Richmond police took Wilson into custody last week on information supplied by the San Francisco authorities relative to a "bunco game" Wilson was alleged to have operated in an attempt to deprive Anthony Winkert, 71, of St. Louis, Missouri, of $9000.

Wilson admitted in his hearing yesterday that he had a small quantity of morphine on his person when arrested, and claimed that he had it for his own use. Constable Arthur A. Alstrom took Wilson to Martinez.

DYNAMITE USED IS TRACED TO COUNTY PLANTS

kept part in the affair was not of any criminal nature. Tinning refused to order his arrest but brought him and Mrs. Barker on a motorcycle last night for further questioning.

Watson Arraigned
Watson yesterday morning was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Frank L. Glass who fixed bail at $5000 each. Confined with Watson's being taken to court, Thomas C. Boone of Modesto, former attorney for several years for the ranchers of the Owens river valley arrived in Martinez to handle the defense and arrange for bail. J. E. Rodgers and A. E. Bray of Martinez were promptly retained for the defense of Watson and arrangements for the latter's release on bail to be furnished by banking interests of Bishop were started.

Dynamite, TNT and other high explosives in quantities sufficient to have destroyed a city were transported in a touring car down the crowded State highway from Oakland to Big Pine, Inyo county on May 14, less than two weeks prior to the blowing up of the No Name Siphon of the Los Angeles aqueduct, it was said.

This and other startling developments in the Owens Valley-Los Angeles aqueduct feud came to light yesterday with the arrest of Major Watson, ex-army officer and high explosive expert and interrogation of A. Barker, oil well worker, who told of having helped Watson transport dynamite, trinitrotoluol, gelatin, fulminate of mercury and other high explosives from the Hercules powder plant at Pinole to Oakland and thence to Big Pine.

Hercules Purchase
According to the Contra Costa county authorities, Watson appeared May 12 at the San Francisco office of the Hercules Powder company and there stated that he was an ex-army officer, conducting a series of experiments with high explosives to test certain shell-proof armor.

He obtained an order on the Pinole plant of the company for 400 pounds of 100 per cent blasting gelatin, the highest form of dynamite. At the same time he asked for 300 pounds of trinitrotoluol, commonly known as TNT.

Watson, according to the statement of J. B. Rice, sales manager was told the local powder company would first have to obtain permission from the home plant at Wilmington, Del. before the TNT could be sold. Telegraphic permission having been obtained for the sale of the explosive, Watson appeared again at the Pinole plant on May 14 and in company with Barker drove away, first having purchased, in addition to the explosives, two petro-magnetos fuses wire and other equipment.

Watson Nervous
"Watson was a little nervous about carrying the explosives," Barker said, "and as a matter of fact he asked me to hold part of them in my lap during the trip, which I did. We brought the explosives down in Watson's touring car, a big green car with yellow wheels."

When confronted with telegrams which passed between the Hercules Powder Company and the home office of the company in Wilmington, Del., relative to the sale of 300 pounds of TNT to Watson for experimental purposes, Watson admitted the purchase of the explosives but insisted that he had used the whole quantity in carrying on his experiments.

Following Watson's arrest at his home in Big Pine, the ex-army officer was brought here.

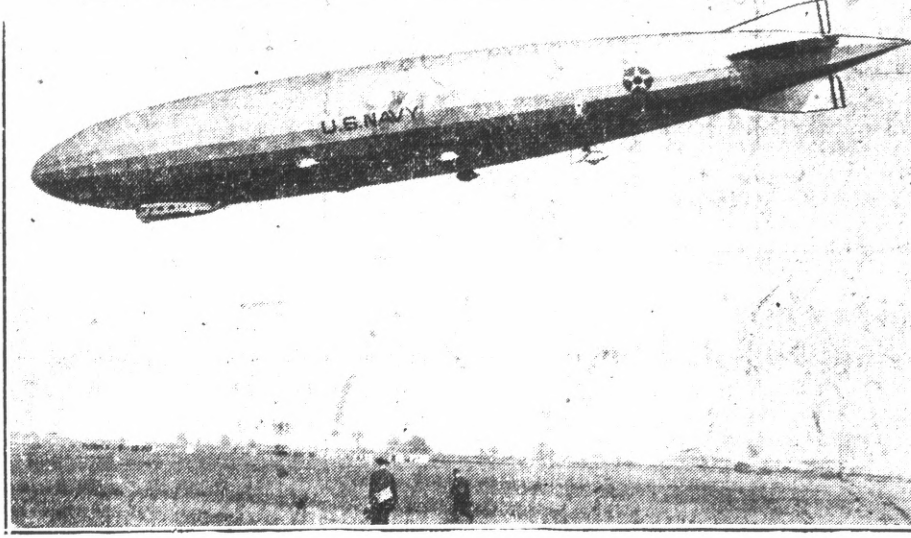

Came To Stage
In addition to the explosives purchased by cash from the Hercules Powder company, officers state that Watson also went to the California Cap Works at Stege and obtained two ounces of fulminate of mercury, from Superintendent Campbell, in charge of the plant there.

In connection with the dynamiting of various portions of the Los Angeles aqueduct in the feud which has attracted the attention of the whole Pacific Coast, it was learned today that various wells owned and operated by the city of Los Angeles in the vicinity of Bishop and Big Pine, also had been destroyed by explosions of dynamite.

Some of these wells, it was stated, were destroyed a year ago, while the largest and most prolific of the wells was destroyed only a few weeks ago, shortly after the blowing up of the No Name Siphon.

Numerous wells, it was stated, have been drilled by the city of Los Angeles to augment the main flow through the aqueduct, but as fast as these wells were sunk dynamiters blew them up.

Getting Los Angeles Ready For Hop

SECRETARY WILBUR has announced that the navy's great airship Los Angeles is being prepared for a flight that may take her to Hawaii. The big dirigible is now being overhauled at Lakehurst, N. J., for the expected cruise, but the itinerary has not been definitely decided. Photo shows Los Angeles in a recent flight.

Dynamite Found
One of the eight cases of dynamite which Watson is said to have purchased at Hercules, had been floated into the siphon and was to have been exploded a moment after the first blast wrecked the 450-foot section. Something miscarried in the plans and the unexploded case of gelatin was found intact after the blast. By means of the serial numbers and identification marks on the container the cast of dynamite is said to have been traced to Hercules and there alleged to have been reported as one of Watson's purchases.

In purchasing the explosive, plunger, fuses and wiring for exploding the charge at Hercules, Watson is said to have given Barker's address in Bakersfield and in that manner Watson was traced to his Owens river valley ranch from which he has for the past five years been admittedly warring against the Los Angeles water board.

Refuses To Talk
"I have nothing to say," Watson replied to requests for his version of the affair this morning. "and if I did talk your paper would shrivel up under the heat of my remarks as to what I think of the Los Angeles water and power commission."

Watson stoutly denies any knowledge of the dynamiting of the aqueduct and insists that the explosive which he purchased at Hercules was to be used by him for experimental purposes only.

R. F. DeValle, president of the water commission of the city of Los Angeles swore to the complaint against Watson and Barker although District Attorney A. B. Tinning refused to issue a warrant until after he had personally made a full investigation and satisfied himself that crime had been committed in Contra Costa county.

"I am not interested in the dispute between the city of Los Angeles and the ranchers of the Owens river valley," Tinning said yesterday morning. "I am not going to be a party to any movement to pull any of Los Angeles' chestnuts out of the fire. That dynamite, nearly half a ton of the highest explosives known, was purchased in Contra Costa county and was transported over our highways to the endangering of the lives and safety of our people. I intend to proceed to the prosecution of this charge against Watson and expect to conduct the preliminary examination within a week."

Further than this, Tinning declined to comment on the case. Conviction of illegal possession of high explosives is punishable by imprisonment from one to five years.

Tinning with Clyde Laird left Martinez Wednesday morning in his car for Bakersfield at the same time the undersheriff W. M. Veale and Deputy District Attorney R. L. Boyer left in Veale's car. At Bakersfield the Contra Costa authorities met Charles Clark, attorney for the Los Angeles water board, Clarence S. Hill and W. R. Hickok, investigator for the city. Veale and Laird left immediately for Bishop where Sheriff Tom Hutchinson of Inyo county was called upon to go with the Contra Costa authorities to Big Pine and there at 7 o'clock in the morning take Watson into custody. Then started the wild dash across the mountains to Bakersfield, the authorities being anxious to get Watson out of Inyo county before news of his arrest was spread about and before any attempt might be made by the infuriated ranchers of the valley to rescue him.

Trans-Atlantic Flyers Sketch Incidents That Forced Ocean Landing

"When we landed in the water, both wings of the America broke off."

Byrd's first act, before retiring immediately after his arrival here, was to cable his wife in Boston.

The prefect of the Calvados department declared that all the air-men were asleep when he arrived at Ver-Sur-Mer, and they were not disturbed.

"Before going to bed," said the prefect, "they explained that they had flown through fog, storm and had winds. President Paul Doumergue of France telephoned his congratulations to Ver-Sur-Mer."

Birdmen Exhausted
When Vice-Mayor Coffier and his two sons, routed from their beds by the two fishermen who first saw the America, went to the beach, they found the four air-men exhausted and in a state of collapse.

Byrd and Balchen were lying on the beach tired out. Acosta and Noville were found a short distance from their companions, equally exhausted.

"It was a wonderful flight," declared Byrd this afternoon. "We saw no land nor sea after we left Newfoundland until we had almost reached the European continent."

"We had nineteen hours of dense fog and heavy clouds. We could take no bearings because a fog covered the whole coast. By good luck, we managed to locate ourselves after emerging from the fog."

Made Good Speed
"In landing, we lost our charts. We made good speed. I believe we made the coast of France at Cape Finisterre."

"Then it became dark, and we had to depend on our compass bearings. We flew over an amusement park near the coast, and believed that we were approaching Paris."

"Flying over a strange country is not pleasant. At intervals, we encountered heavy rain storms. We knew our gas would not last, and we were quite certain that we would have to land in the dark. However, we kept heading for Paris."

"To land on rough ground, of course, would mean disaster. It was a bad moment when we were watching our gas gauge and knew that a forced landing was facing us."

"I felt very keenly the responsibility. As the gas supply diminished, and the danger of being forced to come down over a city became more apparent, we decided to take our chance over water. I dropped a flare, but it did not help much."

"Down we came. There was a hard jolt, and then water poured in everywhere. We were bruised slightly, that's all."

Plans Under Way
"The America will rise again. We will repair her. She is a fine ship. We were in the air 42 hours. The courage and calmness of the fellows with me, under such distressing circumstances and awful strain, was wonderful."

The North Pole trip which was only sixteen hours, was less of an ordeal," Byrd continued. "The weather was much worse over the Atlantic."

"But if I had to make the Atlantic trip again, I would want the same three men to go with."

Byrd has no exaggerated idea of the immensity of trans-Atlantic passenger service.

"We are not ready for that yet," he said. "Others will follow us in a similar feat, but there will have to be many such flights before we can even think of a regular passenger service."

Boy Saw Land
Later this afternoon, Acosta, Balchen and Noville expressed their agreement with the views of their leader. Their descent from the skies this morning was witnessed by a small boy on a bicycle. He was so scared that he dashed away without warning the villagers.

While the flyers were trying to salvage the great Fokker monoplane, a couple of fishermen arrived, and then came an angel in the form of Mme. Tanugi, the wife of a Frenchman, but formerly Estelle De Jongh, of New York. She was unable to interpret for the four men.

While the men were sleeping, sightseers began to arrive on the beach and soon the fuselage of the Fokker was plucked to pieces by the souvenir hunters. The engines were intact, but the plane showed the effects of buffeting by heavy seas.

Engines Dismounted
This afternoon, Commander Byrd had the three engines dismounted. It is planned to send them with the body of the plane, to Le Bourget flying field.

At tea time, the mayor held a reception in honor of the American visitors. A small brass band played locally popular airs.

man Wanamaker, with Captain Beardsley, arrived and after a conference it was decided to spend the night here, going to Paris tomorrow morning.

Ver-sur-mer went into isolation tonight promptly at seven o'clock. Paris time. All telephone and telegraph service was, at that hour, suspended. The operators had done a historical day's work, handling telegrams from all parts of the world, congratulating Byrd and his companions on their wonderful achievement.

The America was partly submerged as French officials began the task today of getting the craft to shore. All precision instruments, compasses, wireless equipments were taken from the America.

Commander Byrd and his men were greatly concerned over the condition of the America.
